

Austin Morris, Jr.

Privacy and Network Security (Cyber) Insurance for Small Businesses

Technical Track: Small Business

Small businesses are increasingly vulnerable to cyber criminals who attack common vulnerabilities and skillfully look for new attack vectors. Human error and negligence also plays a big role in data breaches and other cyber risks. The cyber threat landscape is in constant motion and is becoming more complex. Most small businesses are responsible for confidential and proprietary data. Even when using third parties, small businesses can face big liabilities and expenses. This interesting presentation will explain cyber insurance and how costs resulting from a range of cyber risks can be covered by the protections of a well-structured cyber insurance policy.

Biography

Austin Morris Jr. is president of Morris Risk Management an insurance brokerage that provides a wide range of high quality insurance products and services. In addition to providing advanced risk management solutions, Morris Risk Management is a leader in cyber insurance, technology errors & omissions insurance and related cybersecurity matters.